FOR SENATORS,

Let every republican voter in Vermont remember that "As Vermont goes, so goes the nation," and come out Sept. 4th and help to make the republican majority larger than ever before.

State senators-to-be Alexander Dunnitt of St. Johnsbury and F. W.
Baldwin of Barton are mentioned as suitable candidates for president pro tem of the senate. Both good men.
We understand that while he appreciates the bouquets being fired his way, Mr. Dunnitt is not a candidate for the honor. The suggestion of Mr. Baldwin for the position is one which will probably meet with successful approval.— St. Johnsbury Republican.

Now that the legations in China have been relieved the question arises as to what course should be pursued.
It is reported that the Empress Dowager has fled from the Imperial city but that the Emperor is still there. It will undoubtedly be the policy of this government to oppose the dismemberment of the empire and if seconded by England and Japan this course should be successful. The position of the powers on the further advancement of troops is much the same except in the case of Germany whose minister was killed thus giving her greater reason than any of the others for pushing the campaign. However, if the emperor is in a position where he can be reached it would seem more advisable to treat with him, obliging the government to make full reparation for its depredations, than to attempt to push the campaign further with the intention of punishing them by force of arms.

THE RIGHT SORT OF CANDI-DATE.

In conversation with a gentleman once prominent in Vermont affairs and now even more prominent in political circles in another state, the late Nelson A. Dingley made the remark that there were but two or three members of the House of Representatives who had more influence upon their fellow-congressmen than did General Grout. Coming as this statement did from such a source, it was a most substantial bit of testimony as to General Grout's usefulness in the position to which he had been chosen for several successive terms. Mr.
Dingley commented on the General's effectiveness in committee work and his energy in attending to the details of whatever important congressional business was at hand. The people of Vermont appreciate those compliments paid to her representatives at Washington, and it is just because General Grout has been so influential and useful in the house that they want him elected senator. It is a pretty poor argument which some of his opponents are advancing—namely, that efficient service in the House does not necessarily guarantee the best sort of service in the senate.

Just the opposite is true. The success with which one has fulfilled the duties of a responsible position is indisputably a basis for public confidence as to his ability to meet the requirements of a still higher and more responsible place. General Grout has done his work finely in the house. He can be relied upon to honor the state and himself in the senate.—Fair Haven Era.

BEER IN POLITICS.

"The political canvass for the Republican nomination as representative from this city to Montpelier has blackened the fair name of Burlington.
For some weeks the city has been turned into a beer sewer. 'Kitchen rallies' have been held all over the city, sometimes ten a night, and beer has been poured out freely to all comers. The six working days of the week have not been long enough to satisfy the caucus thirst and the sewer of beer has been kept running on Sunday. These rallies have no doubt attracted many respectable people, but they have mostly been controlled by toughs. A noisy, riotous time followed and many decent citizens have been outraged in their feelings and have protested vigorously against it.
The fairest city in America has thus been disgraced and its decent people outraged by this debauchery and crime in city politics."

The above is a clipping from a long editorial in the Burlington News, but the News fails to state that the three candidates in the field were all in favor of high license or local option and this shows the methods which they employ in their campaign. Does the News believe that if they will use such methods in the face of the present prohibition law that it would not be much worse with the sale of liquor made legal? We believe that the course the News has taken on the liquor question has done much toward creating the sentiment which allows such work. Another part of the editorial reads as follows: "The News believes in the right of every man to buy and drink what he wants when and where he pleases so long as he behaves himself and respects the rights of others."

Do they respect the rights of others?
Instead of doing this in every state where there is a license law the state is obliged to expend a large sum of money in enforcing the criminal laws and the cause of a liberal percent. of the crimes, is the use of rum among the people. The condition our contemporary states existed in Burlington could not exist in any place in Vermont where there was a strong sentiment in favor of prohibition; yet the News will maintain that it is advocating license because it believes that such a law would be the means of decreasing the sale of liquor in the state.

If the News would before asking for a change in the present law, try to create a sentiment which would favor its enforcement, and thus determine if it will do what is claimed for it, its claim would seem more consistent.
The law will not enforce itself but if the people will enforce it, it will stop such work as the News maintains was carried on in Burlington.

A COMPARISON.

Gen. Grout's senatorial canvass seems to be directly in contrast to that of Mr. Dillingham in one respect. The Grout papers have been falling over themselves to give the widest publicity to every detail of Gen. Grout's long and handsome public record. The Dillingham papers are making every effort to cover up or explain away Mr.
Dillingham's record in the legislature of 1884, when he worked and voted against the interests of the farmers by antagonizing the Parker bill, providing for a tax on oleomargarine. The fact that he attempted to stem the tide of disapproval among the farmer members of the house by voting for another measure which proved to be absolutely worthless and which was subsequently repealed, does not mitigate or alter the situation.

As the days advance Gen. Grout's strength among the farmers increases while that of Gov. Dillingham decreases in proportionate degree. Of course there are farmers in every town who can be duped each year by sleazy politicians—farmers who will vote directly against their own interests—farmers who will reward the faithful friendship of Gen. Grout by voting for Mr. Dillingham, who is on record as having voted against them when he had the opportunity.

But we believe the great majority of farmers will support Gen. Grout in this contest, and in that case Gen.
Grout's calling and election is assured, as the voters of Vermont are farmers, two to one.—Deerfield Valley Times.

STILL TRYING TO EXPLAIN.

The Montpelier Journal takes exceptions to the statement of the Monitor last week to the effect that the farmers might prefer to leave the constitutionality of the Parker bill to the supreme court of the state and among other things says:

"An attempt is made to fortify the Parker dictum by the statement that his bill has been enacted into law in other states and has there been pronounced constitutional. This claim is as mythical as the oft repeated assertion that the Parker bill and the Grout bill pending in Congress are identical.
No law that is second-cousin to the Parker bill has been enacted by any State of the Union."

As will be seen by the above the Journal states that no bill similar to the Parker bill was ever passed by any state, yet in its issue of July 2nd the Journal stated that "acts of a similar nature were held to be unconstitutional by the higher courts of New York and of some of the other states," in trying to explain Mr. Dillingham's position on the oleomargarine question, his organs have been juggling matters to suit their convenience and this has had much to do with causing the question to be raised as to his sincerity in opposing the bill. No attempt is being made to prove the Parker bill constitutional from its having been declared so by the courts of other states. No reference was made to such courts until the Dillingham papers stated that they had declared it unconstitutional and they were then asked to prove their claims.

If the Journal will keep a little nearer to the facts of the case and discontinue some of the dirty work of which it is constantly accusing other papers, it may be of help to its candidate, but the campaign which it is now waging cannot help but be a detriment to any candidate.

their backs.
Some watches "run" in any posi-

Some watches are like some people, you must humor them. Such peoable companions.

A Watch that is not reliable, con-times needs treatment.
